

Snapshot of Famous Young Entrepreneurs

1. Hannah Grace – BeYOUtiful

After being challenged by her father to create the same products she loved from her favorite health and beauty stores, 10-year-old Hannah Grace started what would become her own bath bomb business called BeYOUtiful. You can find her products on her website. Hannah donates 20% of every purchase to the Juvenile Diabetes Research Fund, as she was diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes when she was an infant

2. Maddie Rae – Maddie Rae's Slime Glue

SLIME MAKING

Slime took the kid world by storm, and Maddie Rae, 12, made a business out of it, Maddie Rae's Slime Glue. She combined her love of making slime with her difficulty in finding glue in stores. It took a lot of trial and error, but she succeeded. Maddie has expanded her online store to feature a range of slime, slime glue and slime accessories.

3. Brandon and Sebastian Martinez – Are You Kidding

Brandon, 13, and Sebastian Martinez, 11, sell their funky and creative socks to elevate people's style while also helping the Juvenile Diabetes Research Fund and Autism Speaks. Since 2014, Are You Kidding has partnered with schools across the U.S. to provide socks for school fundraisers.

4. Sofi Overton – Wise Pocket

If you've ever found yourself wearing socks or leggings and wishing there were pockets, Sofi Overton, 13, has the product for you: Wise Pocket. Sofi's inspiration came when she saw her cousin put her phone in her boot because her leggings had no pockets. Sofi got to work and created a sock with a pocket capable of securely holding a phone. In addition to socks, Sofi sells leggings with pockets.

5. Mozhiah Bridges – Mo's Bows

Set to graduate high school in 2020, Mozhiah Bridges started Mo's Bows in his grandmother's kitchen when he was 9 years old. Bridges says his desire to find a sharp-looking fashion accessory was the inspiration for his business. The internationally recognized business has motivated Bridges to study fashion design in college. In addition to bow ties, Bridges' Memphis-based company sells neckties, pocket squares and apparel.

6. Cory Nieves – Mr. Cory's Cookies

When Cory Nieves was 6 years old, he dreamed of saving up for his own car because he was tired of taking the bus to school. The enterprising Cory initially sold hot cocoa and lemonade but soon began a quest to create the perfect chocolate chip cookie using all-natural ingredients. After trial and error, Cory and his mother, Lisa, perfected their recipe, and Mr. Cory's Cookies was born. Through the cookie business, Cory has worked with

Whole Foods, Williams Sonoma, J. Crew and Pottery Barn.

More examples of young entrepreneurs can be found at:

<https://www.businessnewsdaily.com/5051-young-entrepreneurs.html>